

LIBRARY

The Pace University Library is an exciting place for scholarship, community, collaboration, service, and research. The library is an information hub and a campus crossroads for the academic and social activities that take place on our campuses. Our Library is a multi-campus system comprised of the new Beekman Library on the NYC campus, the Mortola Library in Pleasantville and the Law Library, which operates under the Law School Administration in White Plains.

The Library offers users a wide array of resources and services including access to over 120 research databases (from on or off-campus,) print and e-books, resource sharing partnerships with local area libraries and consortia, and comprehensive interlibrary loan services for materials not owned by the Pace Library. The Library supports students, faculty, and staff in their research needs through in-person and remote research support, as well as in-person and online (synchronous and asynchronous) Information Literacy and research skills instruction.

For a complete description of library resources and services, please explore the Pace University Library website and we welcome you to contact staff members and librarians at the Pace Library locations directly with any questions that you might have.
