

SPECIAL EDUCATION (ALL GRADES), MSED

Campus: Online

For

Candidates with an Initial certification in Childhood or Adolescent levels who want to become specialists in teaching students with disabilities from preschool to grade 12.

What You Learn

Be prepared to work with students who have disabilities and deepen your knowledge about the characteristics of typical and atypical learners. Learn to use inclusive and evidence-based practices for students with special needs.

How You Learn

This 30-credit master's program integrates theory, technique, and practice in instruction and assessment.

The program culminates in a one-semester, full-time practicum in a classroom setting and a related teacher-as-researcher course that includes an action research project.

Career Outcomes

After completing the program, you are eligible for an initial certificate in teaching students with disabilities (P–12).
