

NURSING, BS (RN4)

Campus: Westchester

The Bachelor of Science in Nursing (RN4) program at Pace University's Lienhard School of Nursing offers a comprehensive and immersive educational experience designed to prepare students for a dynamic career in nursing. This full-time, direct-entry, 122-credit program is situated on the Pleasantville campus and emphasizes a blend of theoretical knowledge and practical application.

LSN offers direct admission to the nursing program to qualified individuals of diverse backgrounds, talents, interests, and experiences who are committed to meeting the current and future healthcare needs of individuals, families, communities, and populations at local, national, international, and global levels. As a school set in culturally diverse urban and suburban locales, through and with its community partners, LSN fosters human growth, dignity, and inclusivity while providing primary health care. The school offers a student-centered learning experience that promotes civic engagement, social involvement, and professional responsibility to embrace the healthcare challenges of the future.

Faithful to the Pace University motto, Opportunitas, the Lienhard School of Nursing (LSN) is dedicated to offering access to a unique, student-centered educational experience that culminates with the opportunity to pursue a career as a professional nurse.
